On Tuesday evening Grand-laster Fitzgerald will, after the formal gening everemonies, submit his annual thress, and this will be followed by the abress, and this will be followed by the scouncement of committees and cutting out business for the remaining sitting out business for the remaining sittings. The election of officers, in which more interest always centres than in any other feature, will occur on Wednesday evening, and Thursday night will, as usual, be devoted to general work. THE PRESENT OFFICERS.

Special interest attaches to the elec-ted of officers this year, by reason of he fact that the death of Mr. F. A. ted of Alexandria, has left a vacancy the fact that the death of a vacancy med of Alexandria, has left a vacancy med the position of Grand Senior Warden, and that there are interesting, but enterly friendly, centests over two of the cost desirable offices. The present offices are: Grand Master, J. P. Fitzerald: Deputy Grand Master, A. R. Sartney, of Richmond; Grand Senior Warden, vacant; Grand Junior Warden, and Treasurer, Fred. Pleasants, of lichmond; Grand Secretary, J. V. Bidden, of Richmond; Grand Senior Death, of Grand Senior Death, of Grand Pleasants, of medical Junior Deacon, A. O. Kerns, of strellin's; Grand Pursulvant, Junius Cosby, of Richmond; Grand Tiler, C. Wilkinson, of Richmond. In the elections in the Grand Lodge of Grand Master, the past-grand masses.

In the elections in the Grand Lodge the Grand Master, the past-grand mas-sers, and the Deputy Grand Master, each have a vote; the grand wardens, Grand Treasurer, Grand Secretary, grand deacons, collectively, have one vote, and so do the past deputy-grand masters and past-grand wardens; each subordinate odgs has one vote; the district deputy-grand masters, who are not representa-tives of any grand lodge, have, collec-tively, one vote, and so do the past mas-

FOR GRAND TREASURER.

FOR GRAND TREASURER.

It is generally conceded that Colonel
J. P. Fitzgerald will be re-elected Grand Master for another year, but when the office of Grand Treasurer is reached the name of Mr. George W. Poe, of this city, will be presented in opposition to Colonel Fred. Pleasants, who now fills the position by appointment. Both of these genfemen are deservedly popular among their Masonic brethren.

temen are deserved popular among their Masonic brethren.

Colonel Picasants, who succeeded Colonel Bidgood as Grand Treasurer, when the latter was named to succeed the late William B, Isaacs as Grand Secretary, has been a Mason since 1879, having joined Richmond Lodge, No. 10, the year after moving to this city to having joined Richmond Lodge, No. 10, one year after moving to this city to live. He served two terms as master of his lodge, and is a prominent member of the Commandery of St. Andrew. Knights Templar, and other Masonic orders. Columel Pleasants has also been closely identified with the military of the State since he came to Richmond, having been a member of Brigadier-General Andrewon's staff, with the rank of captain, and is now a member of Governor O'Ferrali's.

Mr. Pos, like Colonel Pleasants, is an ardent Mason. He is past master of No. 9, past-eminent commander of St. Andrew, No. 15; past-grand high priest of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter, and is now Grand Treasurer of both the Grand Commandery and Grand Chapter. FOR THE SECRETARYSHIP.

But the fight for the Grand secretary-shp will be even more exciting than that for Grand Treasurer, as there are three apprants, all well-known men of affairs and prominent in Masonry. The in-cambent is Colonel Joseph V. Bidgood, of this city, and the gentlemen opposing bim are Captain J. B. Banks, of Peters-burg, and Dr. George W. Carrington, of Pasthony

Bidgood was made a Mason in 184, on Howlett's line, in Old Guard Army Lodge, No. 265, right under the fre of the Yankee guns. He joined Rhahmond Lodge, No. 10, in 1865 or 1887, tid was past master of it in 1871, serving two terms in that official capacity. He has also served as high priest of

PETERSBURG, VA., November 30.-(Special.)—At the session of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Conference, in this city, to-day, Bishop Hood, the presiding officer, made his annual address. He said that during the past year in the discharge of his duties be had travelled 20,000 miles, and had only been at his home two weeks since June, 1894. His home two weeks since June, 1894. His duties had been greatly enlarged by the death of two of the bishops of the Church. He visited 500 churches, and ordained thirty-five persons to the ministry. He referred to the fact that the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church is now on the eve of its 160th anniversary, and spoke of its growth, and of the advance in the spirtual, material, and educational condition of the colored race. He condemned the tobacco habit as Gills, near Woodbury Mills, in Powhatan counnear Woodbury Mills, in Powhatan county, last Wednesday evening, when Me. John A. Hancock and Miss M. Stella Gills were united in marriage. Rev. Robert H. Winfree, of Midlothian, officiated, and a number of friends of the contracting parties were present to extend congratulations. After the ceremony a delightful reception was given at the residence of Mr. George B. Hancock, fasher of the groom. The bride is an exceedingly pretty young lady, and very popular with a large circle of friends. Mr. Hancock is a school-teacher, and is held in the highest esteem by all who know him.

AFTER THE STORM.

A Masterpiece of Art to Be Exhibited Here Free.

Another great masterpiece, a painting in oil by one of the renowned painters of the Old World, will soon be on exhibition in this city. While it is exposed every art-loving citizen should take advantage of the generosity of its owner and see a work of art which is to go down to posterity as one of the truest and most realistic productions of this age. It is a mammoth oil painting by Thaddeus Suseina Poplel, of Krakow, Poland, the artist who shared his crust with Millett, of "Angelus" fame, in his days of poverty and fil fortune. Like that immortal genius, Poplel produced one great work, "After the Storm." He lived, breathed, and felt the loves and sympathies of the simple Polish peasants, among whom he was reared, and in after life gave to the world in a painting an incident which had made an evertasting impression on his mind. A peasant and his wife, who had toiled in the field all year to raise a crop of wheat, on which their living depended for the next year, awoke one morning after a storm to find their ripened crop laid low by rain, wind, and hail. They stand in the wet road looking upon the devastation, not shedding tears, nor making any demonstration of grief, but their expression is one of unutterable wee. Their loss has struck them dumb, and they gaze in speechless misery.

Mr. A Saks has captured this great work at a great cost, and will pay it a proper respect by creeting a special room for it on the second floor of the establishment of A Saks & Co., corner Eleventh and Main.

The picture arrived in the city yesterday. It is an enormous canvas, about fourteen feet square. The original price of the painting was $16.000.

As soon as it can be properly hung (which will take a few days), the public will be invited to inapect one of the grandest patrings of the age. every art-loving citizen should take advantage of the generosity of its owner A telegram received from the Dispatch's Washington correspondent announces his arrival there, and says:
"Mr. Pulliam visited the Treasury Department, but Mr. Carlisle was absent, presumably preparing his annual report. Mr. Pullam had a pleasant interview, though, with Mr. Logan Carlisle, the private secretary of his father. While the latter could give Mr. Pulliam no definite answer, he gave him to understand that Mr. Carlisle would accept the invitation, and that he would communicate with the Chamber as early as possible, and would probably name a date for his tisit to and speech at Richmond. "Mr. Pulliam was accompanied to the department by Mr. Jackson Guy, who was in the city an other business, but not as a member of the Invitation Committee."

THE HUNT CLUB. THE HUNT CLUB.

On Friday the Hunt Club had the largest hunt of the season, and the pretilest field it has ever been the pleasure of the spectators—which, by the way, were numerous—to behold. There were about thirty riders out, Mr. Herbert Barry and his three friends of Troop A, New York, who succeeded in getting mounts, swelling the number. At an "inand-out" across the road on the Water-loo 'pike, several riders went down, but none were hurt. The New York men, some of whom belonged to the Meadow Brooks Club, said that they had never ridden to stiffer fences.
